

Busy Halloween for kids young and old

Halloween was a busy one on Anna Maria Island. There were costume contests, oodles of candy and more fun than a barrel of witches.

The Anna Maria Island Chamber of Commerce had its costume contest and many of the participants came to Haley's Motel after the event to go travel past a graveyard, walk through a haunted house and check out everyone else in costume.

It was all in fun and just another event planned as part of Bridging the Gap.

SUN PHOTO/MAGGIE FIELD

SUN PHOTO/MAGGIE FIELD

Left, Nanette Almeter and nine-year-old son, Grayson the Robot, travel the Trail of Treats.

Left, Lindsay Smith and the crew at Milena's Beauty Salon in Bradenton Beach donned a 1980s retro look.

Below left, Sandy Mullons appeared as a severed head on a table at her haunted house in Holmes Beach.

Right, Sally "Pooh" Woodward, Joan "the witch" Carter and Julie "Tigger" Quinliban enjoy themselves at the Trail of Treats.

SUN PHOTO/MAGGIE FIELD

Above, Skyy Lynn Rickerson, 2, of Holmes Beach, is pooped after Trail of Treats trick or treating with mom, Jaymie, and grandma, Ruthie Mercer.

Left, Bobby Reynolds and his daughter, Macey, dressed up as the Incredibles with friend Lea Morgan.

SUN PHOTO/TOM VAUGHT

SUN PHOTO/MAGGIE FIELD

SUN PHOTO/MAGGIE FIELD

Goblins, ghouls, ghosts and skeletons haunt the graveyard at the home of the Webbers in Holmes Beach.

SUN PHOTO/PAT COPELAND